Day 02 Bangkok

Breakfast at the hotel

This morning set out for Wat Po, home of the giant Reclining Buddha, to experience their morning chanting rituals. Then visit the impressive Reclining Buddha itself, at 46 meters in length, 15 meters in height and completely covered in gold leaf. Then travel by Tuk Tuk, Bangkok's iconic open air taxi, to the Grand Palace. The Grand Palace is one of the most beautiful examples of an ancient Siamese court, which incorporates several palaces and halls used for different occasions. Bangkok's former royal palace is an intriguing blend of Italian Renaissance architecture and classical Thai roofing. It was begun in 1782 by King Rama I and improved upon by subsequent rulers. See the Throne Hall, the Coronation Hall, the Reception Palace and the Funeral Palace.

Go on to see The Emerald Buddha Temple (Wat Phra Kaeo). Bangkok's most important and sacred wat. Built at the end of the 18th century by King Rama I, this splendid example of Thai aesthetics and religious architecture houses the Emerald Buddha, Thailand's most venerated image. So small and distant that it can hardly be seen, the jade image symbolizes the independence, strength and good fortune of the country. The interior walls are painted with superb frescoes, while murals between the window frames depict Jataka scenes from the life of Buddha.

Breakfast at the hotel

am.: City Tour Waroros Market, Wat Phra Singh and Doi Suthep.

Set off this morning to explore the city of Chiang Mai, which not long ago was a just a small town, but is now the second largest city in Thailand and one of the country's most popular holiday spots.

Begin at the bustling Waroros Market, before taking a rickshaw to see Wat Phra Singh, passing the Old Chiang Mai city wall on the way. Wat Pra Singh is Chiang Mai's principal monastery, and home to one of Thailand's most famous images: the mysterious and ultra-powerful Pra Singh Buddha image. According to local folklore, the 1,500-year-old image was brought to Siam from Sri Lanka and after a great deal of wandering, finally settled here. This finely illuminated image, with its benevolent facial expression, remains an image of great power and justifies its wide-spread veneration.

Go on to see Chiang Mai's most famous landmark, Doi Suthep, which rises as a backdrop to the town. After an uphill ride along a hairpin switchback, you arrive at Wat Phrathat Doi Suthep, tucked away in the mountains at 3,520 feet. Legend has it that a holy relic was placed on the back of an elephant and a temple was to be erected where the elephant came to rest. What an extraordinary elephant to choose the summit of the steepest hill in the area for its resting place. A long flight of steps, lined with ceramic tailed nagas, leads up to the temple – or you can take a short tram ride. From this height, look out over panoramic views of the area.

Lunch on own arrangement

pm.: Handicraft Workshops

For generations, the delicate craftsmanship of local Lanna Thai people has been inherited. Witness the artisans' remarkable skill and patience with your own eyes, you will no longer wonder why Chiang Mai is the center for quality handicrafts production of Thailand.

On this trip you will visit many factories producing and selling various kinds of quality handicrafts, seeing the production process which had been passed down from their ancestors, shopping for these delicate hand-crafted quality products, such as: Saa Paper Umbrella, Lacquerware, Silk and Cotton Fabrics, Gems & Precious Stones, Wood Furniture and decorative items, etc.
